Description

Our client provided us with photographs of his pet golden retriever from which our silversmith made a wax model, which in turn was used to create a 3-D mould. In the traditional, centuries-old, technique of lost wax casting, the molten silver was poured into the mould and once the silver solidifies the wax is melted and drained away. The heavy-gauge model of the retriever was then carefully hand chased to produce the lifelike features and character of the individual dog.

For a truly personal model, let us cast your own pet or favourite animal in sterling silver. Working from photographs, we can capture the true likeness of your Rover, Kitty or Dobbin! Please contact us; we can make anything.
