Description

An elegant set of four silver George III candlesticks made in 1783 and 1787 by John Parsons of Sheffield. The round bases and tapering stems have inverted fluting while a band of ribbons and swags decorate below the capital. These wonderful quality candlesticks are made of a heavy gauge of silver and unlike most candlesticks of this age, the stems are not filled.

Each candlestick is accompanied by its original, hallmarked, removable nozzle.
