

LANGFORDS

Antique & Contemporary Silver

Hand-chased Indian silver bowl

Grish Chunder & Dutt

Sold

REF: 2234

Height: 90 mm (3.54")

Diameter: 215 mm (8.46")

Weight: 438 g

Description

An attractive silver rose bowl or fruit bowl, circular in form and with crisp hand-chased bamboo decoration against a mottled background. The inside features its original delicate gilding.

Grish Chunder Dutt is considered, along with Hamilton & Co, the most important silversmith working in Calcutta. The workshop produced all categories of silverware - claret jugs to tea services, boxes and cups. In contrast to Hamilton's restrained minimalist style, Grish silverware was elaborate and tactile and, thanks to the superb quality of their craftsmanship, the firm became very popular among British and Indian royalty and aristocracy.