Description

Edwardian, Arts & Crafts style handmade silver photograph frame fitted with a blue velvet back. The shape is most unusual; almost whimsical. The oval portrait aperture will hold a 135mm x 90mm (5½" x 3¾") photograph.

The Arts & Crafts movement emerged from a disenchantment with the impersonal, mechanised direction of society in the 19th century and advocated a return to a simpler, more fulfilling way of living. The movement was admired for its use of high quality materials and for its emphasis on utility in design.
