Description

Hand-raised antique silver fruit bowl with hand hammered body applied with cast Greco-Roman pattern mounts.

The Greco-Roman style can be described as a natural, simplistic foundation with opulent detailing based on the classical design cues of ancient Greece and Rome. Popular attributions of Greco-Roman style include stately columns, detailed sculptures and intricately scrolled silver metal work.

The diameter indicated includes the handles while the bowl's body is 250mm (10") in diameter.
