Description

An oval silver wine cooler that holds four 75cl bottles. Based on a late 18th century design that was first made popular by Robert Garrard, this substantial silver cooler design incorporates lion mask and ring handles as well as ribbing around the upper and lower sections of the cooler.

And here's a tip:
While silver and silver plate are superior for keeping contents cold, don't just fill the ice bucket with ice cubes to chill your favourite wines or Champagne. Fill the silver ice bucket with ice, then halfway up with water, before dropping in the bottle. Add more water if there's room. Adding water creates an icy bath that's in contact with the entire surface of the bottle. You're welcome!
